MEMBER FOLLOW-UP

Greg Wyatt is at home now and will take chemotherapy treatments in Charleston. He will have five treatments requiring a week of hospitalization each beginning the first week of March. He will go back to the James Center at Ohio State University for follow-up.

Fred McPherson continues his recovery from surgery and says he getting stronger every day and getting back into routine. Fred appreciates all the prayers, phone calls and cards.

Susan Pennington (Garry's wife) has completed her first series of chemotherapy and is now going through radiation treatments. Her white cell count is down, so she is staying out of public to prevent from being subjected to colds or viruses. No bad side effects so far.

John Hudson continues to do his physical therapy from his recent hip replacement. All appears to be going well.

TENTATIVE 2010 MEETING SCHEDULE

A tentative 2010 Meeting Schedule has been posted.

2010 OPEN DATES

It is our desire to have all varsity-eligible KVFOA members working every Friday. If your crew has open dates and is not listed on the website, please e-mail the webmaster and let us know.

If you are varsity-eligible and not on a crew, beginning in June we want to list your name and available Fridays on the website so we can get everyone working.

CLINICS FOR 2010

The following was posted on the NFHS Officials Forum:

The NKOA (Northern Kentucky Officials Association) regretfully announces we will NOT be holding a spring clinic in 2010. Many of you have attended our clinic over the past several years and have complimented us in our efforts. This year our training staff is planning a training event in conjunction with our local schools' scrimmages instead of a clinic. Thanks to all of you who may have attended our clinics in the past. If in the future we have another clinic we will notify you via our web site and this and other discussion forums.

Registration is closed for the Blue Ridge Football Officials Clinic at Salem, VA on Saturday, March 6th
